At least, at least have him talk to me before he says I and Gary want to get rid of fighting. Not the case at all. He can't assume. I like the fact he has the balls (or is nuts) to say what he feels but UNLIKE Charles Barkley, he does not do his homework or is just plain dumb.

The good news is that I will have Brett with me next week in columbus. I will spend some quality time with Brett and work through the issues. I am going to send most of the pitt crowd to the rangers game at the start of the third period.

Now I'm annoyed. No one has called for the abolition of fighting. There was a call for a discussion about injuries - and there seems to be a rash of them - resulting from fighting, and not just from cheap shots I expect better especially if he's invoking colin's and my name. Otherwise - nice broadcast!
